IQMS Complaints User Letter 74 - Clarification on Determination of the Awareness Date for Complaints Received via Interface (Argus / MIIDAS)
Version: 1.0
Effective Date: 2026-03-13
Applicable to: GBS/CQU

This communication aims to clarify how the awareness date is determined for complaints received via the Argus and MIIDAS interfaces and how it may be adjusted by GBS / CQU where applicable.
When a complaint is created in IQMS via the Argus or MIIDAS interface, the interface automatically sets the awareness date based on the system timestamp at the time of record creation.
In general, local Medical Information (MI) organizations operate on working days only, typically Monday to Friday. In some countries, the working week may differ (e.g. Sunday to Thursday), depending on local regulations. Phone lines are generally not available on public holidays. However, where MI teams support multiple countries, written inquiries may still be processed during public holidays, subject to country coverage.

Based on this operational setup, GBS / CQU may adjust the awareness date to reflect the first applicable working day of the intake organization responsible. This applies, for example, to cases received outside official business hours, on weekends, or on public holidays.

We trust that this clarification supports consistent and compliant complaint handling across regions.
